During the last few days arrange nents have been made for the bond issue of the federation. Bonds aggregating $50 000,000 will be placed on the market and the disposition of them is the least of the troubles of those interested in the enterprise. They say they will sell as readily as any of the bonds that have been on the market for several years. The New York Financing Syndicate will undertake to float the bonds and the officials of the company believe they will be sold without difficulty.

It is expected by those of the federation that the bonds will be sold mostly through the medium of popular subscrition. They will be offered for sale in every part of the hat all may consider it intelligent- Co-that he can beat them in the United States. The first step taken to dispose of the bonds will be the

Whether or not the farmers are wise in refusing to sell the wool on the sheeps' backs is a matter for argument, the majority of dealers tive Christian Federation feel that of course, believing that growers would consult their best interests finite shape that it is no longer a by selling ahead, but the market is project on paper. The faith of the so strong now and the prospects are nen who are associated with the so good that the average woolraiser federation is unshaken and they seems willing to take his chances, says the Oregonian.

In considering this phase of the question, the Boston Commercial Bulletin, a recognized authority in the trade, says:

"Even admitting the strong position of the American as well as the eral other smaller colonies in East- foreign market, sheepmen must remember that there is a limit at which eastern wool dealers can operate profitably, and at which manufacturers are likely to buy. Domestic wools are near the importing point, and it would not be judicious to force the later to become too accustomed to foreign wools."

> Some contracting is still being done in Idaho, where in the Soda Springs district it is said that a Philadelphia firm lately picked up 10,000 fleeces at 23 cents. It is also reported that 100,000 pounds of Utah wool was contracted for recently at 21 cents by a St Louis operator. In Arizona the buying of the present clip continues with 20 cents the average price. One lot of 40,000 pounds was sold last week at 21 1-2 cents and 22 cents was refused for a clip of 60,000 pounds.

> The eastern markets are holding up in good style and the late drop is believed to have represented the bottom of prices Stocks are steadily becoming smaller as the mills make liberal purchases. According to the latest advices some small lines of Oregon Valley wools still remaining in the Boston market are being taken at 28 to 30 cents wools are not to be obtained there.

BAKER COUNTY FAIR.

The members of the Baker County Fair Association held a meeting at the office of Secretary Correll Tuesday night and fixed upon the dates for the 1906 meets in which they are interested.

It was decided tolhold a meeting on July 2, 3 and 4, at which there will be one harness event each day and the rest of the program 'given over to the sprintes. In conjunc tion with the race cards there will be a big vaudeille program each Eastern Oregon staple and clothing day, the details of which will be worked out later. To look after the various features of this program a committee consisting of J. B. Rogers, M. S. Bond and S. O. Co. rell, were named.

The regular exposition and pro gram is scheduled for September 18-22. For this event some early closing stakes will shortly be announced. The date opens the Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho circuit La! Grande, Walla Walla, Lewiston and Boise, following in the order named.-Huntington Herald.
